SATSair Promotes Gary Wood to Assistant Chief Pilot

Greenville, South Carolina (November 28, 2005) – SATSair, a provider of "Air Taxi" services operated by Rhino Aviation, announced today that they have promoted Gary Wood to Assistant Chief Pilot. In his new role, he will help with the management of and become the direct point of contact for SATSair's rapidly growing team of pilots.

Wood has almost 20 years of aviation experience and has been with SATSair since August 2004. His aviation background includes pilot and management positions for several Fortune 500 companies, as well as the U.S. Air Force Reserve, where the unit under his command received two Outstanding Unit Awards.

Wood is an Airline Transport Pilot with experience in numerous types of aircraft. He holds a bachelor of science in business administration from Georgia Southwestern University and has also done graduate work with Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University. He and his family will be relocating to Greenville, SC from SATSair's Danville domicile so he can accept the position.

"Gary is a perfect choice to help lead SATSair's pilots through this period of incredible growth," stated Tim McConnell, Vice President of Operations for SATSair. "He has the administrative knowledge and the proven practical skills to handle any situation that an assistant chief pilot might face. I look forward to working with him personally."

SATSair, operated by Rhino Aviation, is the first to offer the innovative "Air Taxi" concept based on extensive research and strategic relationships with agencies such as NASA and the FAA. Using new Cirrus SR22 aircraft, SATSair's mission is to provide safe, convenient, economical air travel and top-notch customer service. With a service area that includes much of the eastern United States. SATSair plans continued expansion, with a goal of 135 aircraft in service by the end of 2006.
